OFF THE WALL™

OFF THE WALL™ is a sports game that combines elements of racquetball and tennis. The game characters are moved between the net and their rear wall with a two-position joystick. A trackwheel is used to control the paddle that hits the ball. The game may be played by one player against the computer or by two players against each other. A game is over when one player scores 11 points. The simplicity, action, and two-player appeal make this an ideal bar piece. Two beginners playing against each other will find the game as challenging as two experts.
